The Project gets asked all the time, what can Wave 4 departments be doing now to get ready for FI$Cal? Our answer has been the same for the last 2 years. Wave 4 departments should be documenting their as is processes. Why is it so important? Because your end users need to understand what’s changing for them. The Project will train the end users on how to use the System but each department must document and communicate new internal processes. There will be forms that go away, systems and spreadsheets that are retired, and manual approvals that will be handled within the FI$Cal automated workflows. Each department owns business process reengineering within their own department. Not started yet? Get going!

WAVE 2 CHANGE WORKSHOPS

As part of the FI$Cal Change Management Office’s (CMO) effort to assist departments with the changes that will happen as part of July 2015 go live, departments will participate in Change Workshops beginning on March 5, 2015.

We’ve found that end users don’t understand that true change is coming due to the FI$Cal implementation. Many believe that all their existing processes will continue and that they’ll just do everything they currently do in their existing systems in the FI$Cal System. That is not the case.

We know that end users need to hear about change from their immediate supervisors or managers. The Change Workshops provide coaching for supervisors and managers on how to discuss the changes due to the new System with their staff, FI$Cal end users. We call these discussions, Change Discussions.

The Change Workshops provide a tool, the Individual Change Discussion Guide (ICDG), to assist with the information a department end user can expect to receive. The ICDG includes:

- Guide purpose and instructions for use
- List of guidelines for conducting change discussions
- Identification of FI$Cal end user roles and role changes, by process areas
- Recommended process for escalating concerns or issues arising during change discussions
- Description of the training and support provided by process area

Supervisors and Managers should take the ICDG and incorporate their departmental new processes to make the Change Discussions productive.

CHANGE CHAMPION NETWORK

The Change Champion Network is reengaging! In January we began bi-monthly meetings to provide opportunities to:

- Network between departments
- Learn more about FI$Cal
- Learn more about managing change
- Receive resource materials to share with their department
- Prepare their department to implement the FI$Cal System

The topic for our next meeting on March 12 is “Managing Resistance to Change”. If you have questions about the Change Champion Network or an interest in participating, email us at fiscal.cmo@fiscal.ca.gov

WAVE 4 – YOU READY?
WAVE 2 STATEWIDE IMPACT

On February 5, 2015 FI$Cal and Department of General Services hosted a Wave 4, Deferred, and Exempt department support workshop. In this workshop, departments were walked through the statewide functionality being implemented with Wave 2. To view the workshop material, please click here: February 5, 2015 Workshop Presentation

WAVE 2 TRAINING

Wave 1 and 2 Departments will receive FI$Cal training beginning late April through July go live. Training will be available for Wave 4, Deferred, and Exempt departments starting mid-May through July go live. FI$Cal training material remains available after go live for post-implementation support. If you have training questions or concerns, contact fiscal.cmo@fiscal.ca.gov
